about the artwork in the terrace café

Hunt Slonem (b. 1951) United States

Bunny Wall 2012–16

oil on wood
Lent by Henry and Pat Shane

Each day, before his first cup of coffee, New York artist Hunt Slonem paints a series of colorful and calligraphic bunny portraits that flow quickly from his memory and imagination through his brush and onto the canvas. Some have droopy ears, others have ears that stand at attention and bushy whiskers. Set within an old, salvaged frame, each has a unique personality and are a nod to Slonem's Post-Expressionistic and Pop Art style and his love of history and antiques.

Slonem's practice of "warm-up paintings", as he calls them, was inspired by Abstract Expressionist painter Hans Hoffmann (1880–1966) who created several small abstract paintings each morning in preparation for tackling larger projects. After learning that he was born in the Chinese zodiac's Year of the Rabbit, Slonem decided to paint bunnies. Slonem kept rabbits as pets during his childhood and has always loved them for their dynamism and independence. He adds, "If you're going to paint multiples, it seems right to do it with rabbits."

Dale Chihuly (b. 1941) United States

Cobalt, Cerulean, Purpura and Oxblood Persian Installation 1993

blown glass
The Nancy and David Wolf Collection
2016.132a–k

Dale Chihuly began creating "Persians" in the early 1980s. The series grew out of his desire to create unprecedented forms in glass. Believing that these colorful, exuberant shapes, which vary wildly in contour and size, conjured the multi-sensory experience of visiting historic and exotic lands, Chihuly dubbed them Persians. This 11-piece composition was designed for the home of collectors Nancy and David Wolf following Chihuly's 1993 visit to Cincinnati.

Dale Chihuly may be the most well-recognized glass artist working today. In the late 1960s, he was awarded a grant to study and work at the prestigious Venini factory on the island of Murano, in Venice, Italy. He was the first American to gain access to the secrets of Venetian glass blowing. Upon his return to America, he co-founded the Pilchuck School of Glass in Seattle. Utilizing Venetian techniques and the model of teamwork that he had observed, he revolutionized the American studio glass movement.
